Mrs. Christensen and son Bryan, of Hemingford, have been visiting in town since Saturday, and also taking appointments of the local chiropractors.

On Thursday morning last, a baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Green, near Hemingford. Mother and daughter are doing nicely. We extend best wishes to all concerned.

Miss Edna Benedict and her mother have moved to Mrs. Brown's residence on Box Butte to spend the winter, and this will be better for Miss Edna during the cold winter.

Percy Miller of Chicago, the potato man, is in the city this week looking after the shipment of a large amount of Box Butte county spuds to eastern markets. The eastern people are beginning to demand the Box Butte product, and there is a certain market for our spuds now.

E. G. Laing, proprietor of "Modern Clothes for Men", is writing each week some mighty interesting letters to readers of The Herald. The letter last week announced bargains in sheepskin coats. The letter published in this issue tells of two excellent bargains in fur coats. Read the letters each week and you will profit thereby.

Severe cold weather continues in Alliance and Box Butte county. During the last week the thermometer has hugged the zero mark in the day time, and at night has usually dropped from ten to twenty-six degrees below. Some snow has fallen and a heavy blanket of snow covers the prairies.

The Alliance fire department was called out just before 8 o'clock this morning by an alarm from the O'Bannon Brothers feed store. A quick run was made by the auto chemical truck and the fire was put out before damage was done. The firemen appreciate the big truck these severe cold days.

Post M. T. P. A. will give prizes to the Alliance merchant who has the best decorated window during the state convention in April. The colors are blue and white, and plenty of bunting and banners will be furnished to the merchants for decoration purposes. The city will be asked to use blue lights for the top light on the cluster street lights.

A MAMMOTH STORE A Place to Visit When in the "Mile High City"

Once before the Nebraska Stockman mentioned, as a matter of news, something regarding Denver's big store, that of the Denver Dry Goods Co., and published a cut of their building. This is one of the many places of interest to be found in the Colorado capital, and Nebraskans will find it an interesting place to visit when in that city.

Besides having the longest straight main aisle of any store in the world, 400 feet, "The Denver" has recently installed a novel feature in the form of a moving stairway. While the building is well supplied with elevators, visitors to the store may, if they prefer, be carried from the main floor to the second floor on a continuously moving stairway, which some prefer to taking an elevator.

WILL CONSIDER HEATING

Mayor Romig Invites Business Men and All Interested to Attend Special Council Meeting

The question of city heat from the waste steam at the electric light plant is to be considered at the adjourned meeting of the city council to be held Monday, January 24. Mayor Romig has issued an invitation for business men and other interested parties to attend the meeting and take part in the discussion of plans. The city council at its regular meeting Tuesday night adjourned until the 24th to sit as a board of equalization.

The cemetery committee will also report on the condition of the cemetery and of plans to make it a paying proposition.

The Alliance Herald was given a renewal of a former order for advertising in a special edition, to be issued soon. The advertising will be for the electric light and power departments.

A deduction of $36.94 from a bill for building cement sidewalks by T. J. Beal was made on account of the fact that all sidewalks called for in the contract were not constructed, and the mayor found it necessary to employ another contractor to finish the work, having to pay more therefor. The extra amount paid was deducted from the bill.

Two representatives of gasoline tractor firms were present and explained the advantages of their makes for use by the city in grading streets. The council may decide to make a purchase of a tractor in the near future in order to cut down the expense of teams for this work.

City employees who do not attempt to pay their bills were warned that they must do so or their services will be dispensed with.

The street commissioner was instructed to "roughen" several cement sidewalks which are as slick as glass in cold weather and which are dangerous to pedestrians.

The council passed a resolution instructing the fire chief to inspect all public buildings in the city and to see that fire escapes are installed according to law. Citizens present spoke of the Central school building, stating that it is not equipped with fire escapes.

Obituary of George Severson

The death of George Severson, well known young ranchman, occurred at the hospital Monday evening, following a short illness of typhoid pneumonia. Mr. Severson operated a ranch about thirty miles west of Alliance, and was considered in robust health, and thus the early ending of the young man's life just in his prime, brings the thought that the hand ruling our destinies is no respecter of persons, but claims the young as well as the persons farther along in years. He was a young man of good caliber, always to be depended upon, and associates will deeply feel his sudden departure. Relatives arrived and the remains were taken to the ranch home this morning, from which funeral services will be held tomorrow. Sincere sympathy is extended to the sorrowing friends and relatives of the deceased.

Obituary of Mrs. Eliza J. Hedge

Friends will be sorry to note the death of Mrs. Eliza J. Hedge, mother of Mrs. R. J. Main of this city, and who was a former resident here and had a wide circle of acquaintances. Her death took place at the home of her son, H. T. Hedge, of Bogue, Kans., on January 5, at the age of 80 years and 11 months. The remains were brought here and funeral services were held at the Darling rooms Saturday morning, interment being made in Greenwood cemetery. Mrs. Hedge was born in Decatur county, Ind., in 1853, and has been a resident of eastern Nebraska for about thirty years. Her husband, Paris Hedge, died July 9, 1912. She leaves five sons and three daughters to mourn the loss of a loving mother.

Installed Officers

Alliance I. O. O. F. Encampment number 81 held public installation of officers at the Odd Fellows hall last Friday evening. A large crowd of Odd Fellows and their families attended. He held the attention of his hearers from start to finish, and received many compliments from those present. Officers installed were: C. W. Jeffers, C. P.; R. E. Lester, P. C. P.; T. G. Waddell, S. W.; A. D. Rodgers, H. P.; J. R. Snyder, scribe; T. M. Lawler, treasurer; J. M. Kennedy, trustee; F. O. Rowe, J. W.; Lloyd Thomas, guide; C. C. Rodgers, first watch; H. H. Brandt, second watch; J. H. THE LARGEST PRODUCING COW IN THE WORLD

A noted cow just now is a Holstein-Friesian cow, Duchess Skylark Ormsby, the new world's champion butter producer. The results of her 365-consecutive-days' test, conducted by the Minnesota Agricultural College, show that she milked 27,761.07 pounds, nearly fourteen tons, or over twenty-three times her own weight. The butterfat contained in this year's milk yield weighed 1,205.09 pounds, this being a fat percentage of about 4.32.

Figured at cash value, and the dollar and cents' estimate is one of the prime reasons for the popularity of the Holstein-Friesian cow, and allowing 35 cents a pound, she produced about $500 worth of commercial butter. Think of it! More than thirty-five 40-pound tubs! The best previous record for the 365-consecutive-days' butter test was held by Funderne Pride Johanna Rue 121083. She produced 642 pounds more milk, but it contained 28.62 pounds less butter than the amount accredited to the new champion.

Duchess Skylark Ormsby 124514, who now holds the world's record regardless of age, class or breed, was bred by R. B. Young of Buffalo Center, Iowa, and is owned by John B. Irwin of Minneapolis, Minn. Her sire is Sir Ormsby Skylark 47010, and her dam is Oakhurst Duchess Clothilde 106988, by John of Barneveldt 35865, a bull that was imported in dam in 1903.

The new champion butterfat producer was born Oct. 31, 1909, and freshened at the age of five years and three days. Throughout the test she was cared for by Axel Hansen, and never missed a feed, never required the services of a veterinarian, and was never fed anything but ordinary commercial cow feeds.

Certainly this wonderful "Black-and-White" cow shows an attractive profit on the year's ledger account, for to her production of $500 worth of commercial butter must be added the enormous amount of skim milk and the value of her calf. It is an achievement which will greatly please all lovers of Holstein-Friesian cattle.

CAT CAUSED MUCH TROUBLE

Family Pet Has Been Formally Cautioned that "The Cave" is Not Public Property.

Out in Woodruff place a number of small boys have banded together and done what most boys have done if they were real-for-sure boys—built a cave, says the Indianapolis News. Approaching this cave is a long underground tunnel about two feet square. What there is in this tunnel in the way of side chambers and the like, the fathers and mothers never will know, but at the inside end of the tunnel is the den, about five feet square, built in a side hill and as dark as the most cavernous depths of a Wyandotte cave.

One of the youngsters belonging to the band of cave dwellers hurried home from school the other afternoon, donned his cave outfit, and made for the tunnel. Crawling in flat on the ground, he made his way toward the den. Arriving there, he heard a scrambling noise just ahead and two fiery spots loomed up in the darkness. He couldn't back away, he was too frightened to go forward, and there was no chance of escape at either side. The fiery spots became active and the boy became panicky.

Just what happened in there the outside world will never know, but when the cat—it was the family cat—came out of the tunnel it was going some. No cat ever moved faster, and it didn't stop until it had reached a barn three lots away.

And the boy—when he emerged his face was as white as the arctic snow and he was moving rapidly for the open. The next afternoon the boy painted a sign on which were the words: "The Cave" in white paint, on a blazing yellow background. Gazing proudly at the sign he explained: "Now, if that fool cat can read, he'll keep out of there."

ONE SET OF BRAINS ENOUGH

Clever Man Makes Mistake When He Takes to Wife Clever Woman, Says Writer.

The wife of one of our most celebrated literary men said the other evening that a talented man should always choose a wife with nothing further than domestic accomplishments. "It is a great mistake for brainy people to marry brains," said she decisively, according to London Tit-Bits, "and, happily, few of them do it. Put two geniuses together in matrimony, and you have put two cats in a bag—nervous, fretful, irresponsible creatures, with no patience and less common sense, who will be always worrying each other and tugging in opposite directions at the matrimonial chain. If they are both talented in the same line they will wear each other out in the expression of different ideas; but if they have separate abilities, there will be pretty often a jangle about which one is the more important. What a clever man wants is a clear-headed, sensible wife, who will forget his vagaries in remembering his brilliancy and remain a constant shield between his sensitiveness and disagreeable things; something, in fact, like one of those cushions that sailors put down on the side of the vessel to keep it from jarring too roughly against the dock. Look at me, for instance; I never wrote a word for publication, painted a picture, composed music or did anything clever in all my life. But I make my husband just the sort of wife he needs."

Gets His Soup at Sea.

Because he is bound for London, where it is impossible to secure a supply of the special seaweed out of which a soup is made that is especially favored by his countrymen, Captain Takai of the Japanese steamer Kenkon Maru No. 8, appealed to the customs officials, the Philadelphia Record says. As a result Captain Harai of the steamer Senju Maru, also Japanese, was given permission to transfer to Captain Takai a portion of his supply of the delectable dainty without which the voyage would be a dismal one for him and his crew. Captain Harai is homeward bound and can soon replenish his stock.

The seaweed in question is found only in the Orient, and it contains a gelatinous substance which thickens the soup, and has a peculiar appeal to the oriental palate. In fact, the Japanese sailor claims there is nothing else so good in the soup-making line. It is found by fishermen at the bottom of the sea and, washed and dried, it finds ready sale in China and Japan.

By a Lake in Winter.

The best sense of peace which fills the woods at midwinter is nowhere expressed more fully than where a sylvan lake or pool reflects with calm surface the grayness of the patient skies.

Strained by the autumn scourgings of the hills, and the decay of innumerable leaves, the water is rarely clear and bright, as when it mirrors the clearer heavens of spring and summer.

It gleams to the slanting light that strikes between denser masses of cloud in tints of yellowish suffusion from the rainscourched clay, or in a strange jade-green opaqueness.

Where the naked trees upon the margin of the lake project the whole length of their reflection upon its unmoved water, they present an impression of enormous columnar height, such as can never be equaled after the leaves of the summer add substance to the lines of their upper boughs.

EXCHANGE VALUABLE TO STOCKMEN

whose duty it is to pass on the eligibility of members desiring to sell shipments in the country under the rules of the Exchange.

The Press committee, whose duty it is to see that proper publicity is given to the proceedings of the Exchange.

The Quarantine and Inspection committee, whose duty it is to assist the different State Sanitary boards and the Bureau of Animal Industry in seeing that proper quarantine rules and sanitary laws are put into effect and enforced.

The secretary-traffic manager, who is elected by the Board of Directors at their annual meeting, is the only salaried officer in the Exchange, and is the active executive officer.

Some Things Accomplished
During the past few years under the supervision of the Railroad and Stock Yards committee, the secretary-traffic manager has taken a very active part in fighting advances in rates and regulations contemplated by the different railroads; in trying to arrange for better train service for the patrons of this market; in seeing that railroad rates in this territory are adjusted so that patrons of this market may not be discriminated against; in securing reparations for shippers from the different railroads for any overcharges illegally made by them; in fact, in taking as active part in all matters that pertain not only to the benefit of those engaged in business at this market, but to help in building up the live stock industry in this territory.

The Exchange has also taken an advanced stand on matters of vital interest to the stockmen of the middle West, including the hearty support of the Bureau of Animal Industry in their fight against the foot and mouth disease, and in actively supporting the various state sanitary boards in their fight to keep diseased live stock out of their states, and in demanding that the railroads pay back to the shippers the arbitrary charges of from $2.50 to $4 per car for cleaning and disinfecting stock cars. The Exchange has also gone on record as favoring a strict inspection of all ruminants as well as hides, meats and other products entering this country from any nation where the foot and mouth disease is prevalent.

Stands for Fair Treatment
The Live Stock Exchange has always and will continue to stand for that which is fair and honest between man and man. The big end of the trading at the Stock Yards each day is done by word of mouth, and we know of no business where the volume of trading is taken into consideration, where disputes in trade are so few and losses from dishonesty so rare.

One of the greatest benefits to be derived from the Live Stock Exchange is the fact that the farmer or stock raiser in the middle West can ship his live stock to the South Omaha market and be thoroughly satisfied that he is going to receive every cent his stock brings. The Live Stock Exchange compels its members to be honest; it has and it will punish members who make false returns to their shippers. The Live Stock Exchange tries by every means within its power to keep irresponsible parties from doing business on this market, thereby protecting the shipper of stock to the market as well as protecting the prospective buyer who comes here for his feeder stock.

The Live Stock Exchange is a medium by which any shipper to or from the market, who feels that he has been aggrieved or defrauded by any member of the Exchange at the market, can have redress by simply stating or sending his case and his proof to the secretary of the Exchange.
